

Single Stage – a question of performance

Single Stage incubation is not just filling up a Multi Stage setter at one time, - it demands equipment specially designed to fulfil the needs of the eggs !

For years hatcheries have had to sacrifice on hatching results to obtain the advantages of single stage incubation, - this is now history. The LINCO Set & Hatch single stage setter is designed with a heating and cooling element in every trolley. This ensures even and perfect conditions for all eggs throughout the incubation period, - and you will see the improved result when the hatch is ready.

Single stage offers a number of benefits, - with Set & Hatch you obtain them all !
